CLARK COMPARTMENT

Your possessions are more than just things, they reflect your life story.

CLARK COMPARTMENT

A favorite book or childhood stuffed animal can be the only familiar comfort during an uncertain stay at a mental health facility. Without a thoughtful place to keep these meaningful items, they often feel impossibly out of reach.

Giving patients increased choice and control over their personal belongings elevates the entire standard of care. Norix understands that every environment we help create sends a powerful message: "You deserve to heal with dignity."

When something as fundamental as storing personal treasures is guided by compassionate design, we create the foundation where true healing can begin.

NORIX

Visiting a loved one at a behavioral health facility inspired Stephen to make a change. Norix has always focused on balancing safety with therapeutic environments, making this collaboration feel natural.

With over 40 years of combined experience in designing & manufacturing for healthcare settings, we know that thoughtful details create meaningful impact. As advocates for healing-centered care, we take our responsibility to support mental health treatment seriously.

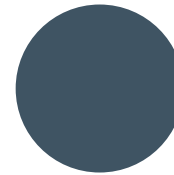

The Clark Compartment is the result of lived experience, intentional design, purposeful engineering, & above all, compassion.
